Dear Partners and Friends...

Greetings from FGCU & Florida Southwestern State College.

"But my God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." PHIL 4:19-KJV

GREETINGS! In this issue I want to celebrate God's provision of our needs both material and otherwise.

BACK ON CAMPUS. God's provision in restoring our ability to interact with students in person on campus cannot be over emphasized. While returning to "normal" continues to be slow and with nuances, it has been steady and efficacious. Highlights have included: meeting about 100 students, giving out Gospel tracts, prayer and discipleship guides, and Bibles, including one in Spanish and another in Portuguese. We have had Christian students tell us that conversing with us has given them renewed hope and encouraged their faith. We have also been able to also share the Gospel in depth with two domestic students and an international student from Asia.

DIVINE CONNECTIONS/OPEN DOORS. Good young worship leaders are rarer than needles in hay stacks here. But God answered our prayer and has given us a gem.

God has also added a second faculty member to our Nurses Christian Fellowship group recently. He has further connected NCF/FGCU with a Christian nursing faculty at our local Nova Southeastern University campus and a Nova nursing student who are considering starting an NCF chapter there. The most recent connection God added to our NCF group was a recent Azusa Pacific University grad now serving with NCF International who shared on line insights with our group on what God is doing in global Christian nursing.

At FSW God has recently added a permanent daytime Bible study location to our weekly contact table outreach, and residential students have asked us to add an evening Bible study in the dormitory. So that request is in progress with the administration.

WORLD CHANGER. This issue's World Changer is 2020 NCF/FGCU VP and graduate Lorvena Dorvilus. Lorvena recently returned from an eight week medical mission trip to Liberia, where she treated patients in a clinic and taught public health (particularly pre-natal) in rural areas and on a weekly radio show. Lorvena is currently employed in Labor and Delivery at a Fort Lauderdale, FL hospital.

THANKS AND PRAYERS. Thank you so much for your faithful prayers and financial support. Upgrading and resupplying for the return to campus has been a substantial outlay, but because of God committing you to partner with us through this rough season we are properly positioned to impact the Campus. There is still a lot of student leader restoration to do, but we are excited about progress so far and confident in God's promise for the future, Philippians 1:6.
